Common Core Standards - Resource Page

The resources below have been created to assist teachers' understanding and to aid instruction of this standard.

College and Career Readiness (CCR) Anchor Standard	Standard: RL.6.3 - Describe how a particular story's or drama's plot unfolds in a series of episodes as well as how the characters respond or change as the plot moves toward a resolution.
R.CCR.3 Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.	Questions to Focus Learning How do the dynamics among characters and plot lead to the resolution? The interactions of the elements are what creates dynamic and enjoyable stories. Student Friendly Objectives Knowledge Targets I know the plot is the storyline or series of events in the story. I know an episode is an incident in the course of the series of events. I can identify the stages of plot development: exposition, rising action, climax, falling action, resolution. I know the exposition is the beginning of a story, typically when setting, characters, and conflict(s) are introduced. I know the rising action is when tension builds and the conflict worsens. I know a climax is the height of the action or suspense in the plot. I know a turning point is an important event which changes the course of the story or causes characters to make important decisions. I know the falling action is the action which follows the climax. I know the resolution is the conclusion of the conflict(s) and is intended to bring the story to a satisfactory end. I can retell the series of plot events in order. I can identify the conflict in the story. I can describe the resolution. I know characters may change as the plot unfolds. I can identify characters' responses to events and interactions with other characters.

Teacher Tips

Flashback and Foreshadowing - A PowerPoint presentation on the use of flashback and foreshadowing.
Outlining Your Plot - An exercise in plot analysis
Plot Roller Coaster - Resource material for Plot Roller Coaster Lesson.
Plot Roller Coaster Lesson - Students will describe the plot of a known novel.
Characterization and Prediction - In this lesson, the classroom becomes a courtroom where students predict the outcome of this conflict.
Action is Character: Exploring Character Traits with Adjectives - In this lesson from ReadWriteThink, students "become" one of the major characters in a book and describe themselves and other characters using lists of accurate, powerful adjectives.
Doodle Splash: Using Graphics to Discuss Literature - This ReadWriteThink five-day lesson utilizes students' natural tendency to doodle.

Everyone Loves a Mystery: A Genre Study - In this lesson from ReadWriteThink, students examine story elements and vocabulary associated with mystery stories. First, students complete Internet activities designed to increase exposure to and appreciation of the mystery genre.

Making Personal and Cultural Connections Using "A Girl Named Disaster" - This ReadWriteThink lesson is intended to help students experience both "efferent" (reading for information) and "aesthetic" (reading as a personal, emotional experience) responses to a story.

Plot structure: A Literary Elements Mini-Lesson - In this lesson that introduces plot structure, the teacher activates prior knowledge about plot by discussing events in a story students have read recently. In small collaborative groups, students use Freytag's Pyramid, a graphic organizer for plot structure.

Press Conference for "Bud, Not Buddy" - This ReadWriteThink lesson can be used after the reading of Bud, Not Buddy, by Christopher Paul Curtis. The lesson encourages students to use higher-level thinking skills, and asks them to examine different character perspectives.
